WHAT IS RESURGENCE ABOUT?

Discontent with our present society is widespread. Who can believe that the mass-production mass-consumption society corresponds to the needs of man? Yet for many it is a necessary evil, accepted for want of something better. We have to admit that the economics and politics of growth have been given intellectual care and attention far exceeding that accorded to any other ideas of society.

Resurgence offers a unique opportunity to work out a view of society based on the real needs of man.
